

Dermatology

de

Dermatology conditions vary in severity for each patient and Serono Symposia International Foundation is committed to providing medical professionals with continuing medical education programs that will benefit patient outcomes. Through the development of live events/webcasts, online self-study programs and publications, we are committed to providing you with the information you need on important advances to help you enhance patient care.

NEWS