

Robert G. Edwards at 75

rh it no . .

Venice

2. 10. 2000 3. 10. 2000

This symposium marked the 75th birthday of Professor Robert Edwards, known worldwide for his extensive contribution to research and clinical practice in the fields of Reproductive Physiology, Embryology and Assisted Reproduction. Robert Edwards is regarded by many of us as the most accomplished reproductive scientist of our age.

The program celebrated his outstanding contribution as well as looking forward to many more fruitful years of his involvement in the field.

